The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I, II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention in Group II has separate utility such as enhancing query results of a search engine. See MPEP § 806.05(d). Invention in Group I has separate utility and requires a documents on the Web are linked via hyperlinks, created by the authors of the documents, which are enable the users to browse through documents on their own interest. Group III has separate utility because it provides a relevance information of a documents in addition to the displaying documents of Group I.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Groups II and III, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

A telephone call was made to Mr. Himanshu S. Amin (Reg. No. 40,894) on October 28, 2002 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but he requested for written restriction.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application.
